Udacity achieved 472% ROI for Europe’s leading bank.

When select employees enrolled in Udacity for Enterprise programs customized for BNP Paribas, the digital talent transformation results were dramatic within the first year.

The bank was able to save nearly $1M in hiring costs by developing new competencies in AI and data science internally. It also was able to use data-driven decisions to service clients more efficiently and effectively.

BNP Paribas successfully reduced attrition among analysts and associates that had been looking to depart for marquee tech companies like Google and Amazon. Now, employees with institutional knowledge are empowered to diversify their competencies, and are better equipped to keep up with emerging technologies so BNP Paribas can sustain its leadership.
